

Arkansas Advocates for Nursing Home Residents

When congressional reports and specific data are released, CAGs and state advocates should contact their local media immediately with this information. By having the data and facts available, AANHR is able to get a large number of reporters interested. Also, for the last 15 years, AANHR has contacted newspapers sporadically in different parts of the state and asked them what their free ad policy is. The majority say they are free. AANHR has been advertising in 7 different newspapers across the state – free information for protecting the rights of nursing home residents. It is also important to list contact phone number.
